FOREWORD

As our class history unfolds with the pages of this Meta, we will recall realization that our high school education is the foundation of any field that we pursue in the future, we will be forever indebted to our parents, teachers, and classmates, who have helped us firmly plant our feet on the unfathomable path of knowledge.

IN MEMORIAM

We never seem to realize the value of our friendship with others until they are no longer with us. After their departure we only begin to understand the deep impression that they have left with us. We cherish the memory of our happy and sad moments together, and appreciate the new phases of life that we have come to recognize as a result of our acquaintance.

The sudden loss of Beverly Mekolsky in our Junior year has left us with the eternal memory of a quiet and friendly classmate.

DEDICATION

It is with sincere pleasure that we dedicate this META to Miss Mary McNamara, known to us as Miss "Mac", whose cheerful and friendly interest will always be remembered by her pupils and the Class of '62!

ADMINISTRATION

To the Class of 1962 we extend our sincere congratulations and best wishes on the attainment of a primary goal in your lives — your graduation from High School.

The twelve short years during which we were privileged to provide you with the basic foundation for your future endeavors are but one stage in the never ending quest for knowledge.

As you go forth to pursue your separate ways, may you always be mindful of the devotion and sacrifices of your parents and the dedicated interest in you and your success on the part of your teachers, whose interest you may amply repay by leading lives of honor and integrity.

May I also extend to you the assurance that my office is always available to you for counsel and advice in whatever manner I can be of assistance to you.

J. HENRY HIGGINS

Superintendent of Schools

Assistant Superintendents
WILLIAM WELCH, JR.
J. PAUL VERONESE

To the Class of 1962:

May I exercise the privilege of your principal in offering you my sincere wishes for future deserving happiness.

At this particular time, as you join the many who are sharing similar joys of achievement, may I remind you that with recognition there is responsibility.

You are the hope of America, and my association with you, and others like you, has justified my confidence in the future of our great and glorious country.

Long after those of my generation have been, you will be, and America, our country, will be just what you want it to be.

This is your heritage but it is also your challenge. Accept it willingly and fulfill it courageously. Always live and act with a pride in a country of which all of us can be rightfully proud. This ideal depends upon the use of your intelligence and especially your integrity.

In your happiness be ever humble and remember those who are less fortunate. The boundaries of sacrifice and service must be limitless and extended so that the whole wide world will share our blessings and admire us not through selfish conquest but rather through selfless charity.

Perhaps the key word to this concept of a happy life is dedication,—one of the richest and most rewarding words in our language. Nobody has symbolized it more than your devoted parents. Never forget them for they will never forget you. They are yours and you are their most priceless possession.

Now, farewell! The pleasure of your association the past four years will always be one of my many happy memories.

Most sincerely,
ARTHUR J. BARRY
Principal

Congratulations to the class of 1962. I have enjoyed working with this class and it is with deep regret that I bid you farewell.

The year has been one of pleasant memories.

You have my sincere wishes for success and happiness in your future endeavors.

FOOTBALL

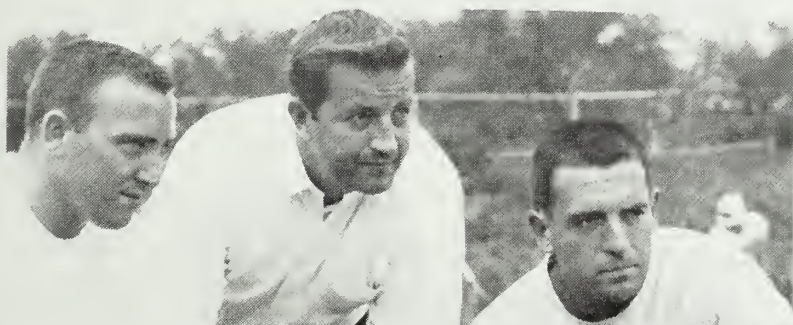

Poor season, good season, poor season, good season, that's how the P.H.S. Tanners have been playing football since we've been in high school. Thanks to the determination and ability of a new coach, Arthur Adamopoulos, his staff, and his players, we shall leave school following a bright football season. After being trounced in the first three consecutive starts (Lowell, Lawrence, and Beverly) the blue and white rallied, came back strong and determined, and by team effort won the remaining six games.

Greater than these honors was the winning of the Edward Phelan Trophy — Peabody 21, Salem 0. The season was a success!

Front row, left to right: Louie Ciman, Mike DiGeronimo, Jim Hinchion, Rick Otenti, Ed Nizwantowski, Larry DiLorenzo, Terry Kallelis, Eddie Murphy, Bill Moore, Fred Wojick. Although the '62 hockey season did not prove to be the most successful year P.H.S. has ever had, it has been a year of concerted team effort.

The Tanners relied on Senior veterans Bob Anthony, Alan Fessenden, Dick Lowd, Paul Macione, John Mansfield, Dave O'Hara, Jim Pierce, Al Richards, and Captain Bob Grusheski.

Games such as Peabody vs. Swampscott exemplify the tremendous spirit and cooperation of the team. The score: Tanners 3, Swampscott 1!

BASEBALL

Well represented on the baseball diamond were the 1962 Tanners. Captain Jim Ashby, along with Senior stars Dick Andrews, "Butch" Bochniak, Frank Espindle, Alan Fessenden, Dana Foye, and Dave O'Hara, showed great determination in their last effort on the P.H.S. ballfield.

Since our freshman days the track team has not been overly successful, but the '62 team was the best for a long time. The greatest deficiency in the past has been the long distance runners. There were none! This year we had Chuck Stavros, a sophomore, and some of his young teammates carrying the long distance battle flag for us. Captain Jerry Bellew led the rest of the team in the dashes, hurdles, and field events. Coach Walter Birmingham looks forward to a successive season.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, an organization primarily designed to aid the student body of Peabody High School, authorized all social functions, assemblies, and clubs. During 1961-62, the Council, with the assistance of Mr. James Arnold, sponsored a dance and four very well received assemblies, in addition to selling book covers and sweatshirts, whose proceeds went to various public service functions, including the American Red Cross and WGBH National Educational Television.

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Seated: Manuela Maistrellis and Janet Van Bobo. Standing: Cynthia Walmsley and Bernadine Lohoski.

The National Honor Society was founded in 1921 by the National Association of School Principals. During the last thirteen years this society has administered a scholarship fund, and provided awards, scholarships and certificates of merit to outstanding college-bound students. It is devoid of all commercialization and is devoted to the best professional interests of education. Membership in this organization is based on scholarship, three A's and one B above 85%, Service, Leadership, and Character.

A C T I V I T I E S

HISTORY OF

While our cramped fingers filled out programs in triplicate, and carried heavy loads of books from class to class, we were astonished at how quickly our glamorous image of high school had disappeared.

Nineteen fifty-eight-fifty-nine was a year of firsts, not only for us freshmen, but also for P.H.S. Student Government was introduced, and we were privileged to elect members of our class to represent us on the Student Council.

The eagerly anticipated Civics Club outing finally arrived, and on a warm, sunny day in June we were excused from classes for the trip to Canobie Lake.

Our sophomore year held many surprises including the renovation of our high school, the popular Navy Band assembly, our first (but not last) bomb scare, and the admiring glances of idolizing freshmen.

Upperclassmen at last! After Junior class officers had been elected, the Junior Hop became the first on a long list of successful activities. It seemed an eternity before our class rings arrived, but the long wait was forgotten as we proudly exhibited them to envious underclassmen.

May 26, 1961 — Last minute shopping and money-raising were finished, and in a matter of hours the excited, talkative girls, and self-conscious, nervous boys were transfigured into graceful and serene young men and women on the night of our Junior Prom.

Opening night found our dramatically talented juniors taking the lead roles in "The Egg and I". A Broadway comedy could never have had a more enthusiastic audience.

Bermudas, sunglasses, and book-laden underclassmen set the scene for Junior Day. We were overwhelmed by the realization that in the very near future we would be seniors.

The beginning of the end of our high school years, September, 1961. At the Senior Barn Dance, our first activity after the election of officers, we discovered that new members had been added to the cheering squad.

We caught our first glimpse of graduation on the morning that we lined up to be measured for caps and gowns. Most of our leisure time was spent filling out complicated applications to our future schools. We nervously kept our appointment at Gainsboro Studio and were relieved when we saw the final result!

Senior Yo-Yo Day caused much excitement throughout the corridors. As the boys displayed their unusual skills, the girls watched curiously, clutching their lollipops and lunchboxes.

We all had fun trying "to tell the truth" at the hilarious Observer Assembly.

The inclement weather did not dampen our spirits on the evening of the Christmas Ball. We complimented each other on our attractive apparel, and awaited the highlight of the evening — the crowning of the queen.

As usual, we weren't disappointed with the performance of the Navy Band at one of our last assemblies. It had us clapping our hands and tapping our feet to everything from classical music to rock and roll.

Senior Day found us once again arriving at school wearing bermudas and sunglasses, with unthinkable tasks in our minds for the underclassmen.

As we lined up for graduation rehearsals, we realized how far we were from the beginning, and how intimately close we were to the end. Learning to march, sing, speak, listen for cues to sit down and stand up, were among the last lessons that we acquired from our capable instructors at Peabody High.

One of the happiest recollections of our Senior year was the class banquet. The unusual setting provided a festive mood and the evening was enjoyed by all.

The last social event of our high school years, unlike any other, had an atmosphere of relaxation, familiarity, and sadness. As we ate, danced, talked, and sang at our Senior Reception, we enjoyed the company of the many friends that we had met during the past four eventful years.

Graduation exercises found us unaware of the present. Only the fading past and the impending future dominated our thoughts.

And now that we have graduated — "Perhaps these things will prove a source of future pleasure"—Virgil.

JUNIOR DAY

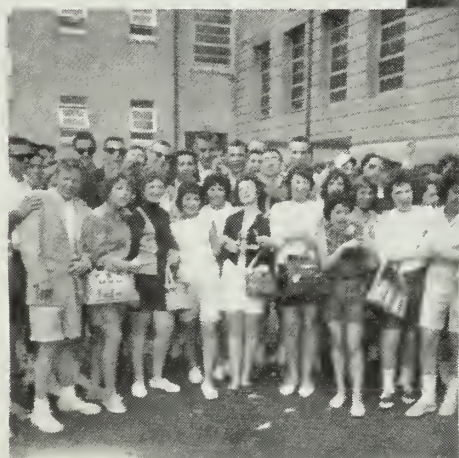

For the insignificant sum of twenty-five cents, the Juniors bought the privilege of wearing bermudas for the entire school day. Also included in the fee was the exclusive services of the underclassmen. A common sight was a tiny Freshman obediently carrying the massive volumes of a dignified Junior.

They told us to relax, so . . .

Just call me
Lonesome Lou.

Togetherness.

You should see second lunch!

Everybody had fun.

JUNIOR

PROM

Her Majesty the Queen, Marilyn Champagne, and her escort, William Laakso.

The rain outside could not dampen the loveliness of the girls or the wonderfully romantic spirits of their escorts, on the evening of the Junior Prom. A "Stairway to the Stars" it was, and will be fondly remembered in our hearts always.

THE EGG

AND I

On May 12, 1961, under the direction of Mrs. Dunn, members of the Class of '62 had the leading roles in the production of "The Egg And I". Set on a rural egg farm, miles from nowhere, the cast succeeded in providing the audience with an enjoyable evening of entertainment.

SENIOR BARN DANCE

SENIOR BARN DANCE

Saturday, October 28, the Senior Class held its annual Senior Barn Dance as the first of their fund-raising activities. The Elgins provided the music for dancing and M.C., Jimmy Murphy, joined a few enthusiastic senior boys in helping the cheerleaders promote school spirit.

OBSERVER ASSEMBLY

Will somebody please get her shoes!

Who said he was a size nine?

A — you're adorable.

Whoops! — Wrong cue.

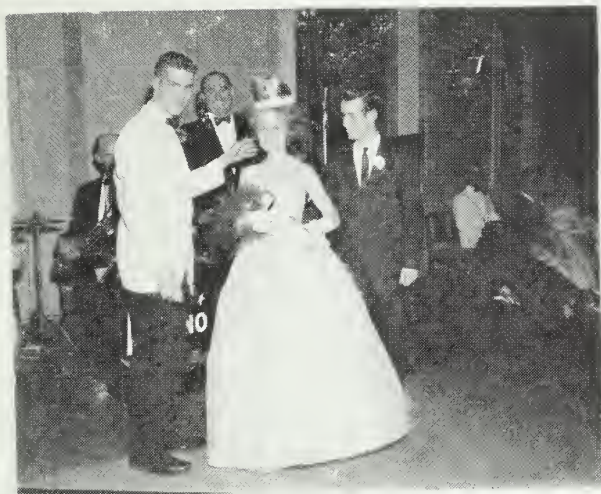

For heaven's sake,
don't drop her!

A Marilyn Monroe
you'll never be!

Just call me Roberta.

CHRISTMAS BALL

Class President James Ashby, crowning the queen, Celia Beukelman, escort, Joseph Foster.

The crisp, winter air set the mood for the Christmas Ball of 1961, and happiness shone on each face as couples danced or strolled around the ballroom. The '61 Ball was a truly fitting occasion to close the holiday season.
